

Building the future of business

ASU's W. P. Carey School of Business is one of the largest and highest-ranked business schools in the United States. Named in honor of our benefactor, the late investor and philanthropist Wm. Polk Carey, the W. P. Carey School is internationally recognized for its leadership in business education.

The business school at ASU was founded in 1955. Today, the W. P. Carey School boasts an acclaimed faculty that includes a Nobel Prize winner, two members of the National Academy of Sciences, a Guggenheim Fellow, and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Many faculty members are also on the editorial boards of academic journals and publications.

With undergraduate business degree programs in 30 disciplines and a range of specialized master's and MBA programs, the W. P. Carey School develops leaders prepared for the challenges and opportunities of an ever-changing global economy. W. P. Carey PhD graduates embark on careers in research and academia, learning from thought leaders in their respective fields and accessing the resources of America's largest public university.

Companies across industries and around the world turn to the W. P. Carey School for professional development. Tailored for senior leaders – with additional programs designed for the entire organization – executive education courses, certificates, and custom degree programs create instant competitive benefits and lead to long-term organizational success.

The W. P. Carey alumni network spans the globe. Our more than 90,000 alumni represent highly regarded companies from diverse industries, including manufacturing, technology, retail, banking, accounting, entertainment, and food, as well as smaller entrepreneurial firms and respected nonprofit organizations.

Our mission

The W. P. Carey School of Business educates tomorrow's business leaders, takes an entrepreneurial approach to learning, and conducts groundbreaking research in order to create positive change on a global scale.
