Recognizing excellence

Greatness in business comes with extensive experience, commitment, and perseverance. The W. P. Carey School of Business is proud to recognize the excellence of leaders from the local, national, and international business community.

Executive of the Year

The W. P. Carey School’s Dean’s Council honors one business leader annually whose contribution is recognized as significant to the nation and the world, whose inspired leadership has created and sustained superior organizational performance, and whose achievements exemplify a model for future business leaders.

2018 Executive of the Year: Terri Kelly

During her 13-year tenure as president and CEO of W. L. Gore & Associates, Terri Kelly oversaw the multibillion-dollar enterprise that employs approximately 10,000 associates in 45 plants around the world. Gore is as well known for its management philosophy and culture as it is for its multitude of innovative products.

Kelly joined Gore as an engineer in 1983 and earned the title of president and CEO in 2005 — one of the few titles within the enterprise — following a peer-driven selection process. Her leadership abilities have driven her success in a company known for its distinct culture in which associates become leaders based on their ability to gain the respect of their peers and to attract followers.

A member of the board of directors for the Nemours Foundation, the board of trustees for the University of Delaware, the Management Executive Society, the G100, the advisory council for the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank, and the International Women’s Forum, Kelly resides in Delaware with her husband and four children.

Lawrence R. Klein Award

An annual honor for economic forecasting accuracy, the W. P. Carey School of Business presents the Lawrence R. Klein Award in association with the nationally recognized Blue Chip Economic Indicators newsletter.

2017 Klein Award recipient: Nariman Behravesh

Nariman Behravesh is the chief economist and spokesperson of IHS Markit. He has been covering the global economy for more than 40 years, making him one of the most well-known members of the economic forecast community, highly respected by academics and across the private sector, as well. Behravesh holds PhD and MA degrees in economics from the University of Pennsylvania, where the late Nobel Prize winner Lawrence Klein was Behravesh’s doctoral dissertation advisor. Behravesh worked for years on developing and extending Klein’s large econometric models.

At IHS Markit, Behravesh oversees the work of more than 400 industry professionals worldwide, who cover economic, financial, and political development in more than 200 countries. The author and former television host is cited extensively in the media, and is a sought-after speaker at top global conferences. He has lived in Europe and the Middle East, and is fluent in several languages.

W. P. Carey Alumni Hall of Fame

Established in 1977, the W. P. Carey Alumni Hall of Fame recognizes alumni who have demonstrated leadership and achievement in their fields and in the community.

2017 Hall of Fame inductees: Scott Donaldson, Sondra Lehman, and Michael Staenberg

Scott Donaldson has been with Ernst & Young (EY), one of the largest professional services firms in the world and one of the “Big Four” accounting firms, since 1982. As a partner and practice leader for EY’s Exempt Organization Tax Services, he is responsible for overseeing more than 115 tax professionals who serve nonprofit and government clients, including charitable organizations, health care systems, universities, trade organizations, and foundations. Donaldson, a certified public accountant, received his bachelor’s degree in accounting and his Master of Accountancy from the W. P. Carey School.

Sondra Lehman serves as the president and founder of Flying L Properties, a boutique real estate investment and rental firm focused on properties in recreational and educational destinations in the Caribbean, Mexico, and the United States. Previously, Lehman served as the president and COO of LSG Sky Chefs Inc., a division of the world’s largest provider of airline catering and in-flight services – LSG Lufthansa Service Holding AG. She earned her bachelor’s degree in accounting from the W. P. Carey School of Business in 1988.

Michael Staenberg is the founder and president of The Staenberg Group, a privately held company dedicated to building retail properties across the country. With over 40 years of experience in real estate, Staenberg has developed over 200 shopping centers comprising more than 35 million square feet of premier retail space. In 2005, Staenberg and his wife Carol established the Staenberg Family Foundation which helps fund community programs relating to medical research, social services, and Jewish culture. In 1976, he received his bachelor’s degree in business administration with a focus in economics and finance from W. P. Carey.

Inaugural Young Alumni inductee: Christopher Myers

Christopher Myers is the CEO and co-founder of BodeTree LLC, an online service that focuses on helping small business owners better understand their finances by providing them with access to advanced tools and advisement. A regular contributor to both Forbes and The Wall Street Journal, Myers has published over 100 articles on entrepreneurship, startups, and small businesses. He earned his bachelor’s degree in finance from the W. P. Carey School in 2006 and a certificate in accounting and economics from Babes-Bolyai University in Romania.
