

Louie Sampedro

Senior Vice President – Investments, Private Wealth Management Group

UBS Financial Services, Inc.

Louie Sampedro serves as senior vice president of investments for the Private Wealth Management Group of UBS Financial Services, Inc. for the southwest region based in Los Angeles. Sampedro and his team manage money exclusively for ultra-high net-worth individuals and foundations. He previously was employed for more than nine years with the private wealth management division of Goldman, Sachs & Co. Prior to his career in financial services Sampedro spent over 10 years with General Electric, including seven in GE's Healthcare Division and three with GE Capital. Sampedro began his career at GE in the technical leadership program after graduating from Arizona State University.

Sampedro has an M.B.A from The Anderson School of Management at UCLA. He is also an industrial engineering graduate from Arizona State University's Ira A. Fulton School of Engineering. Louie earned an Arizona Board of Regents Academic Scholarship to attend ASU upon his graduation from Mountain View High School in Mesa, Arizona.