

Dean's Council Membership Benefits

The Dean's Council is a national group of prominent business executives invited by the dean to play a leadership role in shaping the future of the W. P. Carey School of Business. Members serve as a philanthropic advisory group for the dean and act as advocates for the school in their communities, and within their respective organizations. In addition, members have a number of opportunities to become engaged with the W. P. Carey School at Arizona State University, and benefit in the following ways:

- Serve as a member of the dean's most senior group of advisors
- Invest time, expertise and financial support towards the vision of the organization
- Interact with top faculty, hear about and participate in their research
- Access students for applied project work, internships and/or guest speaking on campus
- Obtain early access to sponsorship opportunities
- Receive VIP invitations to W. P. Carey School of Business events, including the Spirit of Enterprise Luncheon (annual awards for entrepreneurship) and the December Economic Outlook Luncheon, hosted by the school's department of economics.
- Receive an invitation to the Annual Dean's Council Executive of the Year event, honoring such nationally prominent business leaders as Irwin Jacobs, Richard Adkerson and Alan Mulally
- Become a member of the Economic Club of Phoenix, the preeminent forum in Arizona for the exchange of ideas about business and the economy¹
- Access complimentary subscriptions to school publications of your choice, including the W. P. Carey School's research and ideas newsletter and the Blue Chip economic forecast newsletter serving Arizona and the Western region

¹The Economic Club of Phoenix hosts monthly luncheons that have become part of the ongoing business dialogue for our region's economy. ECP luncheons attract industry headliners like Walter Robb, Craig Barrett, Irwin Jacobs, Jim Davidson and Doug Parker. ECP membership also offers the opportunity to connect and engage with W. P. Carey School faculty and students.

Dean's Council Member Responsibilities

As part of this select group of leaders, members of the Dean's Council agree to provide support to the W. P. Carey School of Business in the following ways:

- Carry the vision and mission of the W. P. Carey School into the local, national and global business community. Through the support of our council members, we can share the school's achievements and goals, seek additional support and extend our network.
- Create connections for the school. Through the networks of our council members, we are able to increase our outreach and collaborative efforts, with the goal of creating and maintaining long-term relationships between the school and corporate and community partners.
- Learn about the W. P. Carey School. As our strongest ambassadors, learning about the school is vital to sharing our success with others. This includes attending Dean's Council meetings and participating as needed in strategic planning for the school.
- Invest time and financial resources in support of the W. P. Carey School. Member dues are invested by the dean to support school-wide initiatives that attract students, support faculty, encourage research and growth and further establish our place as a global leader in business education.

Annual Dean's Council member dues are $7,500. Annual Dean's Council member dues, including one departmental/academic advisory board member dues, are $10,000.*

*Council members have additional opportunities to engage with the school, by participating in both Dean's Council and serving on a W. P. Carey School departmental/academic advisory board. Current school advisory boards include: accounting, entrepreneurship, finance, information systems, and supply chain management.

Participation in the Supply Chain Management Department's Network for Value Chain Excellence is included for one year at the $10,000 Dean's Council dues level. Subsequent years of Network participation require payment of $15,000 for Dean's Council and the Network.
